COURT CONSISTENTLY UPHOLDS MEASURE

Opponents To Prohibition To Turn Attention To Other Lines Of Action

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The unanimity and vigor with which the supreme court reversed the Clark decision and affirmed that the 18th Amendment is legally nailed into the constitution probably means the end of all such legal assaults on the validity of the prohibitory laws.

In the eleven years since prohibition, the supreme court has steadily returned decisions favorable to the drys and unfavorable to the opponents of prohibition. Twice now the highest court has sustained the validity of the amendment itself, and on numerous occasions it has upheld the constitutionality of the Volstead Act, directly or indirectly.

The only victories the opponents of prohibition could point to today in more than a decade of litigation and assault on the legality of the various dry laws were minor ones affecting the search-and-seizure provisions. And they are relatively unimportant, when projected against the whole background of the prohibition structure.

Three avenues for wets. Consequently, the opponents of prohibition were generally agreed today, as they studied the clear and vigorous language of the decision in the Clark case, that it is hardly worth while to longer attack the problem through the United States supreme court.

There remain then, they agreed, but three avenues through which to seek corrective action:

1. Overhaul repeal of the amendment.
 2. Revision.
 3. Nullification.
- The difficulties besetting either course are admittedly enormous—despite the very evident shift in popular sentiment away from prohibition in the last few years, and despite the equally evident failure of enforcement in large centers of population.

Plan For Charter Members Luncheon

Second Annual Gathering Will Take Place At Y. W. C. A. Next Wednesday

Arrangements are being made for the second annual charter member luncheon at the New Castle Y. W. C. A.

Invitations are being issued for the gathering, which will take place in the Green room of the Association building on Wednesday, March 4, at 12:30 p. m.

The program of the day, and arrangements are in charge of the membership committee of the Y. W. C. A., which is headed by Dr. Mildred Rodgers, and every indication points to a notable success.

It is the desire of the committee that if any charter member of the organization does not receive an invitation, or did not receive one for the original affair a year ago, that they notify the Y. W. C. A. office at once. All charter members are invited, and it is realized that there are probably some whose names have not as yet been secured by the Association officials. All such are asked to inform the officials immediately, as it is the aim to have the gathering include every charter member possible.

Attorney Gibson Presents Plea

Enter Court This Morning And Is Sentenced To Workhouse

EIGHTEEN MONTHS IS TERM IMPOSED

Former Attorney Clyde Gibson entered a plea at court this morning to a charge of embezzlement by agent, the charge being made by Elizabeth Spence, a former client of Attorney Gibson to whom she had entrusted $1700 to place on a mortgage. It was charged that he had converted the money to his own use. Judge Hildebrand sentenced Gibson to serve 18 months in the Allegheny county workhouse.

The slowness with which the jury selection progressed irked Judge Ralph B. Latshaw to such an extent he said he believed a number of those summoned had discussed the case in the waiting room and formed opinions in order to evade jury service.

MANY ELECTION CHANGES ARE PROVIDED IN BILLS BEFORE STATE LEGISLATURE

(From News Bureau)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 25.—Whether or not any election reform will come out of the present session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly is an open question but if it does not, it certainly will not be for any lack of bills designed to prevent all manner of election frauds, from padding the registry rolls to handing out cigars and advertising pencils.

Just now the elections committee in the senate and house are a welter of election reform bills. It seems to have become the popular pastime to present them, with hardly two of them agreeing as to just what reforms should be made.

The one bill that seems to have a chance of getting through and being signed is the so-called election code, presented in the house by Representative D. Glenn Moore of Washington county, leader of the administration forces on the floor of the house.

Girl Is Seized; House Robbed

Pair Tie Girl In Seventh Ward Home And Then Rob Premises

Two men, denied something to eat Tuesday afternoon by Rose Matteo, an attractive girl of seventeen years of age, who was alone at the time, seized the girl, tied her hands and feet and placed a cloth about her face and as a gag to prevent her calling help, then ransacked the house for money and valuables.

Their efforts netted them just one dollar, which they took and then disappeared leaving the girl tied. When her predicament was discovered, the police were notified and Detective Young and Officer Chas. Longstreth made a complete investigation, scouring the district and surrounding country district for the men.

According to the police no effort was made by the men to injure the girl or do otherwise than render her helpless.

Description given the police was that both men were tall and apparently 28 or 30 years of age. One had on a brown overcoat. The other did not have an overcoat and was apparently cross-eyed.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Mayor William H. Thompson emerged from one of the bitterest primary contests in Chicago's history today with the Republican nomination for a fourth term.

Mayor Thompson's lead over his nearest opponent, Municipal Judge John H. Lyle, will exceed 70,000 votes when the remainder of 111 missing precincts are accounted for, election officials estimated. The official count early today showed the mayor 67,841 votes ahead of the Judge who campaigned on an "anti-gangster" platform.

County Grand Jury Will Start Investigation Into Slaying Of Potter

"HYMIE" MARTIN IS BEING HELD

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 25.—With ten witnesses listed to appear, the county grand jury today was to open its investigation into the possible connections that Hyman "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin may have had with the murder of William E. Potter, ex-councilman.

J. J. Redlick, alias Gray, who occupied an apartment directly beneath the one in which Potter's body was found failed to obtain his freedom through the acceptance of a bail bond.

County Prosecutor Ray T. Miller refused to accept the bond for Redlick's released furnished in the amount of $5,000 by the Grand Central Surety Company and executed by the brother of another Cleveland councilman.

The newest leads in the search for "Akron Mary" outland, Martin's sweetheart, spread to Akron, O., where the young woman is believed hiding.

Martin is still held incommunicado on the sixth floor of the county jail here. Questioned by Sheriff John M. Sulzmann, he was said to have denied that he ever knew Potter. Sulzmann attempted to persuade him to summon "Akron Mary" to Cleveland for questioning by detectives concerning the apartment.

Fireman Set Brakes And Prevented Worse Disaster Is Belief

(International News Service)

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 25.—At least four persons were killed when the Pan-American Special, crack, all-Pullman train of the L. & N. Railroad plunged through an open drawbridge into 30 feet of water here early today.

The known dead: Arthur R. Ingram, engineer, Montgomery, Ala.; J. Nick Vaughan, baggage master, Montgomery, Ala.; Ezekiah Crumpton, Negro fireman; L. Wood, Negro porter. The engineer apparently was dead of heart failure as the crack express sped by red lights and hurtled through the open drawbridge into the water, officials of the L. & N. said.

Have Narrow Escapes
It was believed that Ezekiah Crumpton, the Negro fireman, set the brakes just before he plunged to his death and prevented the pullmans containing hundreds of sleeping passengers enroute from New Orleans to Chicago from entering the water.

The engine, first baggage car and a combination baggage car and club car hurtled off the bridge, barely missing a tug boat passing beneath. The fourth car, a Pullman containing more than 20 passengers (Continued On Page Two)

HOUSE COMMITTEE PLANS FOR PROBE

By ROBERT F. GORMAN

HARRISBURG, Feb. 25.—A light session was scheduled in the lower chamber of the General Assembly today before members packed their bags for the weekly hieira from the state capital, to return next Monday night.

Members of the upper chamber had already quit for the week, after winding up routine business by advancing bills on the calendar at a short session yesterday evening.

Introduction of new bills was to continue in the house and a flood of measures which came from committee were to go on first reading.

Bills Reported Out
Among the bills which came out of committees in the lower chamber was one by Rep. Fitchbaugh, York, to make jury commissioners eligible for reelection more than once in any six year period; another by Rep. Peters, Montgomery, codifying the laws of first class townships and abolishing the elected office of township auditor; and one by Rep. Hoffman, Allegheny, limiting the powers and prerogatives of the office of constable and providing penalties for violation.

The House committee named yesterday by Speaker C. Jay Goodenough to conduct the lower chamber's separate investigation of the Public Service commission today was to name a time for the start of its hearings and it was expected Rep. D. Glenn Moore, Washington, chairman of the committee, would present to the house plans of the committee for its utility probe.

halted at the end of the bridge with the front wheels hanging into space. The abruptly awakened passengers made their escape through the rear entrance as the car tottered over the water.

All passengers on the train were believed accounted for, but on the chance that the club car was occupied, divers and railroad rescue crews were rushed to the scene to examine the water bed.

Two bodies, being sent from New Orleans to Birmingham for burial were in the baggage car which plunged to the bottom of the river. As the engine and cars went hurtling and hissing into the water, the tug reversed its engines, then stood by for rescue work after summoning aid from passengers on the piers.

Among the passengers in the pullman which barely escaped plunging into the water was Mrs. W. I. Grubb, wife of Federal Judge Grubb, of Birmingham, a member of President Hoover's law enforcement commission.

Two rescue trains were sent from Mobile to the site of the wreck, about 18 miles north of the city in an almost inaccessible district.

By the time half of the order had been delivered the constant complaints and replies had put both the mill and the manufacturer into bitter frames of mind. ATTORNEY GIBSON PRESENTS PLEA taking his place beside Mr. Gibson. "I have talked with Mr. Gibson," said he "and I want to say that he regrets very much the occurrence which brings him before the court. He recognizes keenly the unpleasant duty the court is called upon to perform. He realizes that it is a duty devolving upon your honors, in order that the law may be upheld and society protected. Your honors are familiar with the circumstances surrounding this case. I need not go into detail.

"From my talk with Mr. Gibson I feel that he has no resentment nor ill-feeling toward the court. He is willing to submit to whatever penalty which your honors, in justice, feel that ought to be imposed."

At the conclusion of Attorney McCaslin's remarks, Attorney Gibson said, "That is what I wanted to say."

Judge Speaks
Judges Hildebrand and Chambers consulted briefly. Judge Hildebrand then said, "We feel that you realize it is a most difficult duty that confronts the court. You have been closely associated with the court and members of our profession. The one redeeming feature is that you have entered a plea and thus saved the court the expense and the publicity of a trial.

"Neither our association nor friendship will influence us in the performance of our duty, and does not influence us. This is but one of other cases that might have been brought. We will waste no time in discussing your conduct. We feel as any other lawyer who has respect for his profession. The only thing in your favor is that you have entered a plea in this case and saved the county the expense and publicity of a trial. We propose to dispose of this case the same as if you were not a member of the profession, not a friend, and as if you were a perfect stranger.

"The sentence of the court is that you undergo imprisonment in the Allegheny county workhouse during a period of eighteen months to be computed from this date.

Attorney Gibson said nothing after sentence was passed. He went to his seat beside the sheriff, who then took him back to the county jail.

The case on which Attorney Gibson was sentenced was one of many which a committee of the Lawrence county bar uncovered, when appealed by Judge Hildebrand to make an investigation. Report of the committee showed that Mr. Gibson had failed to make an accounting to clients of thousands of dollars given him to be placed on first mortgages.

Following the report of the committee Gibson was disbarred. In the meantime he had fled from the city and was next heard from on the Pacific coast. Later he returned to Ohio and was working in a factory at Campbell, when he was recognized by a former New Castle resident. His arrest and return to New Castle followed.

Attorney Gibson was formerly one of the leading members of the Lawrence county bar, and a trial lawyer of more than ordinary ability. Among his noted cases were the Vernon Ryhal murder case and the Standard Brewing Company case. Up until the time when his shortcomings became known he had enjoyed the respect and confidence of the community. He appears to realize keenly the disgrace which his course of action has brought upon him and appears to be deeply penitent.

STAR LORE WHY SUNRISE IS ACCELERATED THREE OR FOUR MINUTES

By Arthur Dev. Carpenter

Because the uneven density of the atmosphere refracts—bends—the rays of light downward toward the observer on the earth when sun is rising or setting, to about the equivalent of the sun's apparent diameter, one actually sees the disk of the sun while it is yet under the eastern horizon, and also in the west at night just after the sun has actually passed below the plane of the observer's horizon. This phenomenon is due to the fact that light days are bent in the direction of the sun's greater density. That greater density is nearest the earth. The rising and the setting of the moon present this same phenomenon.

MAYOR THOMPSON WINS NOMINATION FOR FOURTH TERM

two years ago when the voters staged one of the most far-reaching political revolts in the history of the state.

Despite sensational warnings that "Scarface" Capone would rally his gang forces to swing the election to his will the primary yesterday proved an example of orderliness. One battered nose was the sole casualty of the day although feeling ran at a fever heat.

Alfred J. Cermak, chairman of the county board, polled a record primary vote to win the Democratic nomination for mayor. Cermak's indicated total of 270,000 was 108,000 greater than the vote given in the primary last year to James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic senatorial ticket.

Deneen Is Third
Alderman Arthur F. Albert, Deneen candidate for the Republican mayoralty nomination, ran third to Thompson and Judge Lyle.

No sooner had the early returns indicated victories for Mayor Thompson and Cermak than the two nominees sounded the opening shot in the forthcoming election contest which will determine who will serve as mayor during the international exposition in 1933. That it will be a bitter fight was indicated by the Democratic whirlwind that swept Republican Illinois last fall.

Indications were today that it will be a three cornered fight with Coroner Herman N. Dundesen as an independent candidate. Dundesen was expected to announce himself as a third candidate today or tomorrow.

DRY AMENDMENT AGAIN HELD VALID

ANOTHER effort to nullify the eighteenth amendment to the constitution has failed.

Some weeks ago a judge in New Jersey handed down a decree, in which he held that the dry amendment was invalid because of the fact that it was adopted through the state legislative ratification method instead of through that of the state convention method.

His decision was immediately carried to the United States supreme court for an opinion, and that decision, handed down yesterday, was by the unanimous voice of the supreme court that the Prohibition amendment is valid.

While it would be possible, through an orderly procedure, to change the Prohibition amendment, it is not by the method of attempting through some technicality to have the amendment declared unconstitutional, it has been proven a number of time already. There are few who believe that any such effort will ever succeed.

The eighteenth amendment was properly ratified and it is in the constitution legally. This is the latest decision of the supreme court and it goes to bulwark the other decisions already made; a guarantee that the amendment is proof against such a line of attack.

Prohibition is here to stay!

REST CURE FALLACY IN SOME CASES

Authoritative information obtained by the public health service at Washington warns against the dangers of the "rest cure" in certain ailments.

This is distressing news for that large number of persons who are too easily persuaded that the only remedy for their real and imagined ailments is an indefinite vacation away from home. Some real work for the first time in their lives would give some of these more physical and mental benefit than the costliest and most exclusive rest cure.

Fashion has played a dominating influence in medical practice as in other fields. Thirty years ago there was a craze for the rest cure as the universal remedy for all mental ills, including delusions of chronic invalidism.

Today work is regarded as a therapeutic measure for many ailments, doctors recognizing positive dangers in prescribing too much rest in some cases.

Myth or fact, there is a popular belief among those with whom work is real that death quickly follows retirement for the man who has worked at high speed and without long periods of rest throughout his life. And there are American businessmen—their compatriots like to think of them as typical Americans—who would as soon die as give up their lives of action and achievement.

PROBLEM OF BUSINESS WORLD

There is force in the contention of Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the United States Chamber of Commerce, that unless business men shall take the initiative in efforts to profit by the lessons of the present economic depression government is likely to intervene with well-meant, but ill considered measures. This possibility is ample justification for the proposed organization of a group of economists and heads of "key" industries to consider ways and means of future stabilization.

Economic laws cannot be repealed, but individual industries here and there have demonstrated that by far-sighted management some effects of their operation can be ameliorated. By study of what has been accomplished by pioneers in attempts to flatten out the curve of production and employment other manufacturers in similar lines may profit. Thus Mr. Barnes proposes that industries by groups shall prepare to fortify themselves along lines indicated by the experience of individuals.

The contemplated study is not to be confused with direct efforts to remedy the existing situation. It is forward-looking. The legendary Arkansas squatter couldn't mend his roof while the rain was falling, and when the skies cleared he felt it didn't need repairs. The Chamber of Commerce idea is to devise measures to make the roof weatherproof against future storms.

It should be easier to secure concert of action toward that end now than under the sunshine of prosperity. There is passing in review before the business men of this country a procession of facts students of which seriously challenge the view that adversity is wholly a dispensation of Providence. Economists and business leaders will do well to strike while the iron is hot to forge defensive weapons.

FARM LOANS BASED ON CROPS

Requests for loans totaling more than $45,000,000 from the federal fund for drought relief have been refused Pennsylvania farmers because this commonwealth has no law which gives chattel property the essential status for such security. The proposal, therefore, to enact enabling legislation in the present session of the General Assembly at Harrisburg may bring about a radical change, upsetting a long tradition suggests the inquirer of Philadelphia. Trying to borrow on crops or crop prospects has been like trying to borrow on machinery, though in the latter case the clumsy process of a "bailment lease" offers a way out under certain conditions.

One wonders whether by casting aside the traditions of a century, even though only in a limited way to declare crops subject to a chattel mortgage for federal loan purposes, the entering wedge might open further the opportunity for giving personal property a new legal interpretation. No doubt there is need for it. Modern business experience recognizes conceptions of property that would amaze our ancestors. Perhaps, indeed, commerce has gone too far along the strange highway that leads to inflation and depression. A middle course might be desirable. The situation has a bearing on the tax structure of Pennsylvania, possibly pointing to hitherto untapped sources of revenue. The whole matter offers an interesting field of study.

MARY OBSERVES

The Willows
February Twenty Four
Nineteen Thirty One

Mr. Frederick L. Rents,
Manager New Castle News,
New Castle, Penna.

My dear Mr. Rents:
It has been almost two years since my last stay here, and during the interim, my welfare work along the line of higher ideals and educational standards for working girls, has taken me far afield.

Since my return a few weeks ago, the time has necessarily been so taken up with the details of our coming campaign in your midst, that there has been scarcely a minute for even the most pressing of social duties.

However, as I have visited and observed the situation in an exceedingly large number of cities and towns of this broad country of ours, the amazing fact has been forcibly impressed on my mind, that in many cities, there is a very evident feeling of enterprise, optimism, good will and good business, while in other places, there is in the very air, a feeling of depression, pessimism, and lack of business.

Having, as I say, noted this remarkable difference in the business lives of different communities, but being too busy with the demands of my own work to give it the personal attention, I some time since directed by secretary to collect data and compile the figures in such shape as to readily point out the reasons or reason for good business in one place and bad business in another, that I have been surprised at the result, because a little reflection would provide the obvious answer. It is unfortunately true that we get so wrapped up in the routine of our own environment, that we get into a rut so deep, that we cannot see out over the edges, and observe our own deficiencies. Our faults get to be second nature with us, just as a bump in the sidewalk may annoy us for a time or two, and then cease to be noticed.

It is likely that the merchants of a town where business is good, should meet, and march down the main street in a body, observing what they could observe, there would be nothing in particular which would attract their attention, as being specially responsible for their business being better than the average.

It is also likely, if the same thing were done by the merchants of another town, where the business conditions were not at all good, they would be able to see nothing in particular, to which to attribute their ill fortune.

But if the merchants of the first town should visit the main street of the second town, quite likely they would wisely not their heads, and say, "Of course, how obvious. And if the merchants of the poor business town should visit the good business town in the same way, quite likely they would exclaim at each other, "Here is the answer, My Goodness, how could we be so dumb."

It is a well established fact, Mr. Rents, that when you come in contact with a person, who is a little unkind, or whose linen is a little unclean, or whose shoes are not neat and polished, you may not know just what the trouble is, but you somehow are not impressed within favorably. And when you get into a car, or a bus, which is untidy, with the windows unwashed, and the floor dusty, you decide not to ride in that car again if it can be helped.

It is just the same with business as a whole, and my secretary in her report to me, was able to single out this fact with a startling vividness, that the stores did a good business which was constantly growing, were the stores which kept their business fronts scrupulously neat and clean, while those where business was bad, were those whose front windows showed signs of neglect. This bears out the axiom that the first element of success, is a good front.

Mr. Rents, did you ever take the time to walk down the main streets of New Castle, and observe the fronts of the business houses fronting thereon? I was pained, nay much shocked the other day, when we drove through the business district, and my secretary pointed out to me the many places where the lower windows of the store fronts had been washed, but where the upper sashes showed the accumulation of the dust of ages. Many places, the windows above the first floor were dreadful, and many of the business signs had evidently been put up before the war and abandoned. This does not apply entirely to the empty stores. Think it over.

Very truly and sincerely,
MARY ELIZABETH HALE.

Many a man who received thirty dollars per month for fighting for Uncle Sam now has to pay for the privilege of fighting at home.

An officer stopped a motorist for speeding and was writing down his name and other information, when a woman who accompanied him snapped:

"Didn't I tell you not to speed? Didn't I tell you we'd get caught, didn't I? And you kept right on speeding all morning, getting out of line, not blowing your horn and everything else. I told you—"

"Say, who is this woman?" inquired the officer.

"WHAT'S A 'MERE MAN'?"

If you don't know, I'll tell you. I've been gathering evidence and I'm now an authority. I know what a Mere Man is. I don't know what very much, but at least I know that.

A Mere Man is a husband or a brother or a son or a father who suggests, in even the mildest way, that he knows something about a woman. Just let him intimate that he understands one particular woman better than other women do, and he wins the title at once. And along with the title he gets a leather medal studded with Superior Smiles and Condescending Looks and Gentle Sniffs. I know all about it.

A man can interfere in the kitchen, in the house, in the realm of women's clothes. He may boil eggs, make coffee, shake up the salad dressing and get a little credit for human intelligence. He may give advice about women's clothes and it will be taken under consideration and it will be referred to the Committee on More or Less Important Opinions. He may hand out theories on What's Wrong With the Baby or What to Do With Jimmy When He Runs Away. He may even try to help a woman with her hair on Women and will be accepted, in a measure.

But that's his limit. He's not supposed to know what women really think. The women decided long ago that the cleverest of men is a child in the hands of a designing woman. Look at Samson and Delilah, look at Louis XV of France and Madame Pompadour. The men also decided long ago that Samson and Louis were rather stupid fellows who didn't know much; but the women look upon them as Mere Men, and as examples of how any moderately shrewd woman can twist a man around her little finger.

It seems to make some difference to women whether men like or don't like a woman, if they think Miss Jane is a very sweet little girl and Mrs. Jones is a fine woman, but it doesn't really prove that the men know what Miss Jane and Mrs. Jones are really like. Only the women can know that, and if a man insists that he knows, "Isn't that like a man?" "How could a Mere Man know that?"

Men have been battering against that fortress for countless centuries. They have been liking women, loving women, hating women, thinking about women since the beginnings of the race and they think they know something about women. But hardly a woman will admit it. The wisest man on earth, when he dares to give an opinion about a woman whom women don't like, becomes at once a Mere Man. He can pound his fist and roar and bluster, but he's still a Mere Man and all he says is sound and fury signifying nothing. It's very humiliating. Ask any man.

MODERN AMAZONS

For the first time in aviation, women are being employed regularly as crew members. Young women stewardesses have replaced male stewards as regular members of the crew on the Boeing System's Chicago-San Francisco passenger transport.

From 200 applicants, the company chose ten young women, all about the same height and weight, uniformed them and made the experiment of employing young women to look after the comfort of the passengers.

Their duties are to serve lunches, supply reading and writing material, send telegrams and dispatch letters, furnish pillows to those who desire to sleep on the overnight flights and discuss points of interest with passengers.

And there are people who thought that the story of the Amazons was only a fairy tale.

THE IDLE DONKEY

A donkey, busy day by day, Found little time or cause to bray. But left alone the field to browse The neighborhood he'd soon arouse.

Turned loose he'd kick his heels and raise And scatter ruin round the place; By wandering where his fancy led He wrecked full many a flower bed.

Unbridled and untethered he In mischief always seemed to be. At him the women used to shout And with brooms to shoo him out.

This idle donkey always found The neighbor's raked and seeded ground; And left to wander all day long What'er he thought to do was wrong.

Good people scarce will cast an eye At busy donkeys passing by. But idle donkeys running loose No end of mischief will produce.

Hoover Address Stirs New Discussion Of State Rights

Growth Of Federal Government Power Is Studied And President Credited With Knowledge Of Effects Of Bureaucratic Rule

President Hoover's personal experience with bureaucratic government activities is recognized in the general discussion of his advocacy of state rights in his speech on Lincoln Day. There is much commendation of his plea for a return to old principles and his attack on paternalism. Changes in scope of problems to be met, however, are viewed as raising some doubts as to the boundary line between national and state duties.

"The conduct of Democracy at the short session of Congress in winter," says the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS, "where every principle has been sacrificed to the greed to secure federal appropriations, seems to have thrown away a campaign issue on which the party might at this time go before the country. Instead of building a constructive platform based on state rights and home rule, the party that once stood for those principles stands with outstretched palm at the door of the federal treasury, while leaders of the Republican thought, including the president and former president, sicken of the monopolistic trends of their own party and while adhering to its record of special favors through unfair tariffs, seek to gather into the party that has always stood for centralization, those who are becoming alarmed at the extent to which that very condition now obtains."

"An evil of the centralization of authority," in the opinion of the PORT WATNE NEWS-SENTINEL, "as Mr. Hoover points out, is the limitation which it places upon the liberty of the individual and the restriction of individual opportunities, both character-weakening tendencies. This approach must lead us to the conclusion that much as the true growth of the republic is commensurate with the growth of character in its individual citizens, then to weaken or retard the development of character by depriving it of the opportunity for initiative action and the exercise of the individual's mind is obviously a blow at the republic's best future."

"For two years President Hoover has been a position to determine the effect of centralized government upon the people, as a whole. He is drawing upon personal experience for his warning," according to the CHAMPAIGN NEWS-GAZETTE, which concludes: "His warning should be taken to heart. The individual must realize his duty toward government. He must realize that community government is for the benefit of society, and that larger political divisions are merely for the purpose of binding together the smaller groups. The larger division should not be expected to perform service that the community government can perform. The national government is to bind the states together—not to solve the problems of the individual states. The state binds together the counties, and the counties bind together the townships. Each should take care of its own problems and not pass them on to be solved by another division."

"His sound and sane remarks apply with great force to a great many steps in paternalism, contemplated already taken," declares the COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL, while the OKLAHOMA CITY OKLAHOMAN remarks that Mr. Hoover has learned that governing and supporting are two incompatible things," and the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS argues: "It is significant that such a warning should emanate from one who is certainly better informed than most people in regard to the operation of the federal bureaucratic system. When he declares that the federal power, entrusted with too many functions, threatens the whole system of local government, the nation should give serious heed to his warning."

Hope that his speech is evident of "a determined swing back to his former convictions that the people should make themselves independent of federal aid and subsidies" is expressed by the ATLANTA CONSTITUTION. The BLOOMINGTON PANTAGRAPH agrees that he "sounded a sensible note" while holding that "the liquor traffic regulation is in a class by itself, and it was in relation to other matters of many kinds that the president addressed less rather than more federal meddling." The SAVANNAH MORNING NEWS is convinced that his "fear of a superstate, one that ought to be present in every American's mind."

Raising a query as to the ultimate result of the adoption of the policy set forth by President Hoover, the PORT WORTH RECORD-TELEGRAM comments: "The Constitution defined the authority of the federal government and then retained as states the tenth paragraph of the Bill of Rights. The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people. The Great American Question is, what are those powers and how are those already usurped going to be regained by the states? The growth of industrial and transportation relations takes away all resemblance to the states and their populations as they appeared to the lawmakers who wrote the Bill of Rights into the Constitution. The Civil War changed the complexion of most of the political interpretation of states' rights. Progress in education, finance, communication and productivity has wreaked havoc with the intent of the government entertained by the founders. The 48 states might well raise their voices in unison and ask: 'What are those burdens we are expected to assume?'

"It is always a practical question," urges the DES MOINES TRIBUNE CAPITAL, "as to how far we can invoke general principles, sanctified by tradition, in new circumstances. How far states' rights can be pressed in 1931 is such a question. Our present troubles, we have learned, resulted in part from overproduction in certain lines and from the failure of private enterprise to adjust production to consumption. Already the government has made a few efforts to aid in the stabilizing of production. The president's warning against drifting into a paternalistic type of government is timely enough. Perhaps that is the thing that most needs emphasizing for any reader to realize that they refer directly to conditions prevailing in the drought stricken regions. It has been the presidential contention that these regions should bear the responsibilities and obligations of the situation that has been forced upon them despite the fact that the forcing was a visitation of nature over which they had no control. This position of the president has seemed unfair, contradictory and even cruel when it is taken in connection with his anxiety on other occasions to furnish food to peoples of other countries visited either by war, drought, earthquake or other calamity."

BE A GOOD FELLOW AT HOME, TOO!

You'd like to give your associates the impression that you are a very fine sort of person in your home. To outsiders coming into your family circle you seem just that.

You are anxious to create and maintain such a reputation with everyone except—those in your home.

You are grouchy and sullen in your home—until some friends arrive.

Then you take on the garb of good nature and good fellowship. What do you suppose is the reaction of your own home folk to that?

They have certainly lost a lot of respect for you.

They have occasion to think that they do not hold as warm a place in your heart as a comparative stranger.

How can they know that you are satisfied with them if you act so bored and annoyed when you are in their society only?

If outsiders can bring out your good points the family begin to think that they have not much power over you and so they lose interest in you.

If you tried to measure up as a good fellow to your family, your own life at home would seem more congenial.

Why save all your smiles and good humor for outsiders?

ACID causes Headaches

WHEN there's too much acid in your stomach, you must force yourself to work, and even pleasures are too great an effort. Appetite lags; the digestion is poor; the whole system suffers. Laboratory tests show an acid condition is due to errors in our modern diet. But you need not wait to diet your way out of the trouble! Take a tablespoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

This will neutralize the excess acid instantly; make you feel like a new person in just a few moments.

Take a little whenever heartburn, sick headaches, nausea, flatulence, indigestion or biliousness show the digestive system is becoming too acid. Whenever you are taking cold, feel sluggish, weak, constipated, Phillips' Milk of Magnesia has a gentle, laxative action. Delightful to take. Endorsed by physicians for 50 years and prescribed everywhere for men, women and children. The genuine is always a liquid; it cannot be made in tablet form. It always bears the name Phillips for your protection.

A SCIENTIFIC TALK ON COLDS, PNEUMONIA AND

flu

HEALTH reports show that flu, like colds and pneumonia, is generally more prevalent at this season of the year. And authorities are urging everyone to take all possible precautions to protect themselves.

Just what causes flu has not yet been definitely established by science. But authorities agree that a weakened, run-down condition may make us easier prey to colds and other dread winter ailments. So they stress the importance of building up our vitality and resistance. Eat nourishing food. Get plenty of rest, fresh air and exercise. Avoid exposure. And start taking a good, fortifying tonic at once.

Doctors advise Scott's Emulsion Scott's Emulsion is recommended by doctors because it brings the remarkable health-building and disease-resisting vitamins of cod-liver oil—in the pleasantest, quickest way. Scott's Emulsion is emulsified. So it's free from that strong "fishy" taste. Easier to take. Easier to digest. And it's more quickly absorbed into the blood stream.

As a result, Scott's Emulsion benefits you almost immediately. It promptly strengthens and revitalizes weakened systems. It improves your weight and appetite. It increases your resistance against the attacks of pesky colds and other winter ills.

Wonderful for children!

Try Scott's Emulsion for pale, thin children, too. Made of purest, tested Norwegian cod-liver oil, Scott's Emulsion is rich in vitamin A, the growth-promoting vitamin that helps guard against disease. It is rich in vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin that prevents rickets.

It also contains vital mineral elements that aid in forming sound bones and teeth. And remember—Scott's Emulsion tastes pleasant. Get a bottle at your druggist's today!

POLICE ORDERED TO MAKE ARRESTS

(International News Service)
PARIS, Feb. 25.—European cities were under heavy police surveillance today as a precautionary measure against disorderly demonstrations by communists, who heralded the day as one of "Red protests."

Authorities in a number of the larger centers, including Paris, forbid public demonstrations and gatherings by communists, warning them that force would be resorted to if necessary to maintain order.

Plan Deportations

Chief of Police Chiappe announced all foreigners arrested during the demonstrations would be expelled from France.

Berlin police, a survey of reports here showed, was amply supplied with batons to enforce its orders against demonstrations. Minor disturbances began there last night.

Elaborate precautions have been taken in the Balkans to suppress outbreaks by communists and unemployed. Spain and Austria, reported little communist activity.

Communists defying police at Szolnok, Hungary, were immediately placed under arrest. Forty Reds were seized before noon at Sofia and 60 in other Bulgarian towns. Scores were arrested by Belgrade police.

Three Berlin foodshops were invaded and plundered during the night.

A parade permit was not granted. The meeting will start late this afternoon with speakers advocating unemployment insurance.

Peter's Adventures

BY FLORENCE VINCENT

MAGGOT BECOMES FLY

"Now that you've been polite to my family, I will be polite to you," remarked the friendly beetle. Didn't you ask me what that bump on the goldenrod stalk was over which you stumbled?" Peter nodded.
"Yes, what was it?" demanded the boy.
"It's a gall!"
"A what?" Peter was puzzled.
"You heard me!" The little beetle was impudent. "Some time ago a maggot dug itself into the goldenrod stem and one of these fine days it will burst open the bark and come out."
"Why did Maggot go to so much trouble to hide himself?" asked the boy.
"You'll have to ask Maggot himself, if you're to learn the answer to that question," said the beetle. "But I can tell you one thing! Maggot will not come out as he crawled in."

When he comes into the sunlight and fresh air again, he will be a fly with wings!

Peter remembered something.

"Say, do you know what that sound was I heard a while ago?"
"Maybe it was I, giggling," confessed the friendly beetle. "I just couldn't help it, you looked so comical when you lost your balance and almost fell to the ground. If I had known as much then as I do now, you would never have tried to rescue Honey Bee from Ambush Bug's clutches. In the first place, he wouldn't have let you drag her away, and in the second place you might have been gobbled up by the wicked thing. Ambush Bug takes his meal where he finds it. I've known him for a long, long time. He's an old sinner and there's no use in trying to reform him."

INCOME TAX FACTS

No. 21

In determining the profit or loss from the sale of property acquired by gift, the basis depends upon the time the property was acquired. If the property was acquired by gift after Dec. 31, 1920, the basis is the same as it would be in the hands of the donor or the last preceding owner by whom it was not acquired by gift. For example, a man in 1926 bought stock at $100 a share and held it until January, 1928. He then gave the stock to his son, who in 1929, when it was worth $150 a share, gave it to his wife. If in 1930 the wife sold the stock at $150 a share, the difference between the cost of $100 and the selling price of $150, or $50, would be taxable income to the wife. Had she sold it in 1930 at $80 a share, the deductible loss would have been $20 a share.

If, however, the property was acquired by gift on or before December 31, 1920, the basis for determining the profit or loss from the sale would be the fair market value of the property at the time of its acquisition. For example, during 1919 a daughter received from her father certain securities which he had purchased in 1918 for $12,000. At the time the daughter received the stock in 1919 it had a fair market value of $15,000. She sold it in 1930 for $18,000, the taxable gain being $3,000. Had she sold the stock at $12,000, the deductible loss would have been $3,000.

The fair market value of a property is defined as "that amount which would induce a willing seller to sell and a willing buyer to purchase."

CONSUMPTION IS FREQUENTLY CAUSED BY CATARRH OF THE HEAD AND THROAT

THERE IS ALWAYS GREAT DANGER OF DELAY WHEN ONE IS SUFFERING FROM CATARRHAL CONDITIONS OF THE NOSE OR ANY OTHER PART OF THE BODY

World's Tonic is the new systemic treatment that has done such wonderful things in helping to relieve catarrh in different parts of the system.

Many cases of consumption started with a cold in the head—catarrh which soon contaminated the air passages and the lungs, weakened them and resulted in the deadly consumption. Also bringing on chronic constipation, gastritis, Liver, Kidney and Bladder trouble.

"World's Tonic" should be used at once if one has a cold that settles in the head and nasal passages. It quickly helps to clear the air passages, clean the catarrhal sores, soothes and helps to heal them. It helps counteract the poisons of the matter discharge, and helps to purify the blood, eliminating the poisonous waste matter of catarrh from the system.

There is no time for delay if catarrh has fastened on you. The quicker you begin with the treatment—World's Tonic—the sooner you may be rid of your catarrh and the risk of the poisons being distributed through your system to cause other and even more serious illness. It is especially important that the nose sores be healed and the breath sweetened, so that the danger of injury to the lungs is avoided as quickly as possible.

Big Naval Dirigible Ready To Leave Cuba On Flight Back To Lakehurst

REFUELING HAS BEEN COMPLETED

By LIEUT. RAYMOND F. TYLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

U. S. S. LOS ANGELES, GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba, Feb. 25.—The dirigible Los Angeles, pride of the American navy, was ready today to resume her cruise homeward after pausing here for refueling on the return trip from Panama.

We expected to remain at our mooring mast here until tomorrow, and then head for Parris Island, South Carolina. The crew has been busy for the past 24 hours provisioning the ship. Our long sojourn in the tropical warmth has tanned our faces, and we look forward with some misgiving to the chill blasts at Lakehurst, N. J., our homebase.

Moderate speed will be adhered to all the way home unless weather conditions advise otherwise.

The sign on the northern side of the Diamond directs motorists to Sharon, Youngstown, New Wilmington, etc. The sign on the southern side directs to Ellwood 11 miles, Butler 30 miles, Pittsburgh 62 miles and Kittanning 57 miles.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Old Doc Einstein is a scientist after the Pator's heart. Applied science isn't making the world any happier, he says. All it's doing is complicating things, balling them up—quickening the pace and the pulse and making the average man's daily schedule resemble a fever chart.

To his fellow scientists the Doc says:

Concern for man himself, and his fate, must always form the chief interest of all technical endeavor. Never forget this, in the midst of our diagrams and equations."

HIGH PRESSURE SALESMANSHIP

A Parkaveneuse, recently returned from Paris, tells of visiting a world famous dressmaker and having to pay 1,000 francs—$40—as a consultation fee to the head of the establishment who, after a hasty glance, advised her what colors would best suit her "personality."

Some models were then rigged out in those colors, the Hea' Man, and not the customer, making the selection of the gowns.

"The experience was worth 1,000 francs," said the woman. "I had heard of the thing, but I wanted to make sure for myself that such high-handed and impertinent merchandising was possible—countenanced by American women with more brains than money."

Since oil and coke have become popular in the suburban furnace, the Coal Man has turned into a paragon of politeness and consideration.

Do you wish the cellar white-washed? The Coal Man will gladly oblige. Or, if it needs it, he'll repair the coal bin or clean out the furnace flues. Indeed, it's hard to think of anything a coal dealer won't do at the present time. Probably with a little hunting around one could be found to rake up one leaves, shovel off the walks, help the girl with the dinner dishes, or take in plain sewing.

TOO LATE

Jack Donahue, who danced his way from the sidewalks of New England to Broadway, where he became the great star of "Sunny," the Follies and "Sons o' Guns" was as versatile, loveable and talented a lad as ever wore the laurel. Just before he died, last October, he wrote a book called "Letters of a Hooley to His Ma," just released by Cosmopolitan Book Corporation.

When the manuscript was sent in the publishers didn't know it was from THAT Jack Donahue—but they did know they had a find. It was only after acceptance that the author's identity was disclosed.

Capone Answers Contempt Charge In Court Today

Famous Gang Chief Terms Self "Campaign Issue" In Courtroom

MAKES STATEMENT ABOUT ELECTIONS

Refuses To Comment On Vagrancy Warrant Issued By Judge Lyle

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Terminating himself just a "campaign issue" Al Capone, king of Chicago gunmen, appeared in federal court here today to answer a charge of contempt of court.

Capone wore the conventional garb of a prosperous business man—a blue suit and tie, black oxfords and spats.

He had gained considerable weight since his last appearance in a Chicago court, more than a year ago.

Capone refused to comment on the case pending against him in federal court or on the vagrancy warrant issued for his arrest by Judge John H. Lyle.

Speaks On Election

Regarding the primary election Capone said:

"Well I have no comment to make on the election except that the people have spoken. This is the third time that certain individuals have sought to involve me as a campaign issue, and it is the third time that the voters have decided that I was only a campaign issue. I believe the public will wake up one of these days to the bunk and hokum which has been built around me and my family."

Pressed for what he had to say about the charges pending against him Capone remarked:

"I'm glad the courts are still functioning. I don't think the judiciary as a body will become hysterical. Hundreds of spectators gathered about the various entrances to the federal building for a glimpse of the underworld celebrity who has been dubbed "Public Enemy No. 1" by the Chicago crime commission.

Federal guards and police were on the alert to keep the crowds moving and to forestall any attempt on the life of the gang king.

Police were also in court today ready to serve a vagrancy warrant on Capone as soon as the federal business is completed.

NEIGHBOR USES RUG, SNUFFS OUT FLAMES ON BURNING SEDAN

Joseph Fehl's presence of mind provided Adams street residents with a brief period of excitement Tuesday evening.

A sedan of R. E. Elmore, 1052 Adams street, had been started by the owner's son, Edward, 18. Back fire from the carburetor caused flames and smoke to attack the machine. Mrs. Elmore, who noted the excitement and smoke from her home called to her neighbors, the Fehls of 1054 Adams street.

Fehl ran out with a kitchen rug, with which he snuffed out the flames, saving the car from damage.

Although the fire in the car was out before central fire apparatus arrived on the scene, Elmore today said he was grateful to the department for the quick response.

Big Auto Show Will Get Under Way Tomorrow

Doors Will Be Opened To Public At 11 O'Clock Thursday Morning

WONDERFUL ARRAY OF CARS ON DISPLAY

More Cars On Exhibition This Year Than Last With Other Features

New Castle's big annual automobile show will get under way Thursday morning at 11 o'clock, when the doors will be officially thrown open to the public. It will last through the balance of the week, closing on Saturday evening.

There were scenes of great activity at the Cathedral this morning, where the dealers and employees with other workmen were busy getting the cars into place, completing the decorations on the building, and adding the finishing touches to make the show the biggest and best ever held by the local dealers.

The new models this year are more beautiful than ever, with their long rakish lines, and some wonderful cars were trucked into the big structure on the hill this morning where they will await the eyes of admiring hundreds starting tomorrow.

Elaborate Decorations

The hours of the show will be 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. each day, with a magnificent fashion revue between 8 and 9 o'clock each evening. They in addition to this, there will be an orchestra during the afternoon and evening, with many specialty numbers sandwiched in between, so that those who attend the exhibition will be assured of a good program of entertainment.

The display rooms, which include the main dining room, ball room and west dining room, are more elaborately decorated than last year, the lobby of the building having been discarded for display purposes this year.

In spite of the fact that more cars will be shown than last year, the space has been more conveniently arranged and there will be more room for the patrons of the show to move about in.

Among the displays which are expected to attract attention in addition to the cars and exhibitions of the accessory engine and the Diesel oil-burning engine and the display of the New Castle Motor club.

Students of the Ben Franklin Industrial school will be special guests of the association during the show, it was announced this morning.

The committee in charge, President A. C. McCoy, Joe Rick, and T. E. Chambers have worked hard to make the big show this week, and indications today pointed to one of the finest exhibitions which has ever been staged in the city.

MANY ELECTION BILLS BEFORE LEGISLATURE

to have the blessing of the governor. In order to get the public reaction to the bills, public hearings are scheduled to start on Tuesday, March 2.

First of all, the new election code provides for a "centralization of responsibility," by making the secretary of the commonwealth the head of the election machinery. This officer would head up the elections of the entire state, and would put him into a position of tremendous responsibility.

In counties of the first, second, third and fourth classes, the election boards which would have charge of the conduct of all elections would be named by the governor, with the provision that the governor must name an equal number of Republicans and Democrats. His selections would be subject to the approval of the state senate, just as selection of cabinet officers, department public service commissioners and the like are approved now.

Commissioners in Charge.

In fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth class counties, the county commissioners would constitute the election boards, which in Lawrence county would mean that the board of county commissioners would have charge of all elections, both city and county. This board would have charge of the conduct of elections, supervision and campaign expense.

The code provides for the training of election boards, permanent registration throughout the state, indisputable identification of those registered, elimination of paid watchers, and limiting the number of messengers, who sometimes appear in large numbers on campaign expense lists.

There would be no assistance to those physically incapacitated, and then only by members of the family, expenditures would be limited to five cents a voter in the primary and three cents per voter in the general election, and would lengthen the election day so that polls would not close until 9 p. m. instead of 7 as it is now.

Opposition is expected to the bill, bitter opposition, for it means the curbing of much of the political chicanery that has been possible by organizations in some of the cities and counties. That opposition, however, will probably be under cover and because of it will be the more dangerous.

Another Angle.

Over against the election code which is thought to be the perfect bill at the present time, is a bill by Representative Philip C. Sterling of Philadelphia. This bill would repeal the direct primary law insofar as it applied to the selection of party candidates for city, state, legislative or federal jobs, and the substitution thereof of the old convention system.

Borough and township officers would continue to be elected by the primary system, but in all others, the election would be selected by the convention system. It is Sterling's idea that his bill would reduce the number of the old convention system.

The bill provides for conventions for the nomination of party candidates for all officers to be voted for in the state-at-large, such as governor, lieutenant-governor, United States senator, auditor general, state treasurer, secretary of internal affairs, supreme and superior court judges and congressmen-at-large.

Delegates to the state conventions would be chosen at the primaries to be held in the spring preceding the general election. Each county would be entitled to at least one delegate for each 10,000 votes cast at the last gubernatorial election for the party's candidate for governor.

Conventions for the nomination of party candidates for congress, state senate and state representative would be held in the districts for which the nominations are to be made, the delegates to be elected from the election districts, and each district to be entitled to one delegate for every 300 votes cast at the last gubernatorial election for the candidate of the party.

Sterling is a veteran in the house of representatives and is the chairman of the important ways and means committee. However, it is felt that his bill will have rough sledding.

City Manager.

Last of all, there is the legislation for the city manager plan for cities of the second and third class and the proportional representation plan of voting. One bill ties the two together and another provides merely for cities to choose city managers if they wish.

The proportional representation backers have lobbied their idea for several sessions, but never got very far. This time they have succeeded in getting the bill out of committee. Under the P. R. system, there are no party candidates for city offices, the only officers affected by the measure. Voting in such a manner as prescribed by the proportional representation idea, a voter registers his first, second, third and fourth choice for the office. The number of votes cast is divided by the number of officers to be selected and the quotient is known as the quota.

If there were two city councilmen to be elected, and there were 12,000 votes cast, a candidate receiving 6001 first place votes would have sufficient to be declared a winner and all other votes cast for him as first choice would go to the candidate named as the second choice by the voter.

It is a process of elimination and while the sounds complicated, Cincinnati and Cleveland, O., are working under it and it is declared to be the most efficient and fair system of voting yet devised.

Shenango township being especially favored according to the map.

Roads Are Outlined

The roads included in the system are as follows:

Old Mercer road to and connecting with the New Wilmington road, the greater portion of which is now a highway. From a point near the Johnston farm on the New Wilmington road, thence east through Neshaunock Falls to the improved highway leading from East Brook to Volant, thence from a point a short distance south of this intersection to the Perry highway.

The road leading from the New Wilmington-Pulaski road to the New Castle-New Wilmington road, which is a highway.

Two roads leave East Brook, neither of which are now improved, which are important units in the new system.

One road goes due south to the New Castle-Elwood City road at Harvey, crossing the Harlansburg and Butler roads. The other goes due east, past the Young and Cooper schools to the Perry highway just north of Harlansburg.

Another road with branches in different directions, is the old Pulaski road, which leaves the New Wilmington road at the outskirts of the city and goes Northwest to Pulaski. A branch of this road turns west and goes on through the Harbor and thence to Edinburg. Then there is a branch which travels east from the Harbor goes to Walmo Lakeview.

County Line Road

Another route follows the old County Line road to Hermon church, thence through Kennedy's Mills to the Perry highway and on into Butler county. At Hermon church, a branch turns south to the Frews cross roads and thence on to the Elwood City-Portersville improved road, by way of Princeton.

Another short branch turns north from Hermon church to the Harlansburg road a short distance east of McCaslin.

The curving section of road which follows the extension of West Washington street to Covert's station and thence north to Parkstown corners, forms another link.

The road from New Castle to West Pittsburgh forms another route out of the city, which is continued on to the New Castle-Beaver Falls road, then turns south to Moravia and goes to the Beaver county line.

The road which goes from South New Castle to Boro to Chewton forms another route, which has a number of variations. There is a road crossing this route, which leads from West Pittsburgh through Union Valley to the Elwood City-New Castle road, which it joins at a point about halfway between New Castle and Energy.

Another route follows the Old Pittsburgh road from East New Castle to the Slippery Rock church. Just north of Elwood City, thence there is a road crossing this route, which runs from Chewton to Elwood City and thence on to the Elwood City-Portersville road. While another runs from Weingartners on the Butler road to Clifton Flats.

The road leading from Moravia to the Harlansburg and on to Pulaski forms another route, which has several roads branching off in different directions.

At Edinburg there is a road which turns west to the Ohio state line, which is called the old Youngstown road, and which connects with the improved Youngstown road at Parkstown Corners. This route forms the shortest distance between New Castle and Youngstown. Near Pulaski another road turns west, running in to New Bedford. Then there is a road which follows the extension of the improved road to Villa Marie academy, which connects with the road from Edinburg to the Ohio line.

Wampum to Mt. Air.

There is a road running from Wampum borough west through Mt. Air to the New Castle-Enon Valley road, and another from the Enon Valley road west to Petersburg. Another road runs from Mt. Air to the Enon Valley-Beaver Falls road, and there is another short section in North Beaver township which runs west from the Mt. Jackson to the Enon Valley road to the Ohio line.

In Plainville township, the present improved stretch is continued north to Brent, while a section turns east at Brent to the Mercer county line. Then there is a road running east and west through the township from a point north of the Jordan school on the Perry highway to the Butler county line.

In Perry township there is a road which runs from the Rural Hill school in Slippery Rock township south to Pleasant Hill, thence to Brinton's corners and on to Pyle's Mills at the Butler county line, with two branches leading south to the Beaver county line.

When these roads are eventually improved, one can go direct from Elwood City to Volant, from Volant to New Bedford, or from Elwood City to New Bedford by an almost direct route over roads which are now unimproved or merely shaded.

Many of these roads are listed on the map as improved, but they are only shaded roads, which in some cases are badly in need of repair or are hard to keep up because of the heavy traffic which passes over them. The road from New Castle to West Pittsburgh is an instance of this, while the old Mercer road to New Wilmington is another.

Eventually, it is expected, these roads on the township system will be improved to a high state of efficiency, much better than they are at the present time, and will constitute a secondary road system throughout the state.

Councilman On Stand Today In P. S. C. Inquiry

Edward R. Cox, President Of Philadelphia City Council Gives Testimony

AGAIN EXPLAINS "SECRET MEETING"

No Reason Given Why Commissioner Benn Attended Famous Meeting

By WILLIAM B. BROWN International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 25.—With Edward R. Cox, president of the Philadelphia city council on the stand, the senate committee investigating the public service commission today retraced once more the story of the "secret meeting" held in September, 1928, in the office of Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Questioned by counsel for both sides Cox gave no new evidence regarding any development at the meeting. He said he had heard the testimony given by others who attended the meeting and that he had nothing to add.

No Reason Given.

His explanation for the necessity of the meeting agreed with the others that failure to proceed with condemnation of the P. R. T. underlies was holding up a huge civic development in Philadelphia.

The stock question, put to all who have been called at witnesses—"why was Benn there?"—did not elicit any more from Cox than it had from those who had preceded him on the stand.

Except for the fact that the public service commission was a participant in the improvement program, Cox said he knew of no reason for Commissioner Benn's presence.

Cox also was emphatic in declaring that the Sunday meeting was not for the purpose "of being told" what Gen. Atterbury wanted done but rather a conference in which all interested could discuss the various questions which affected the improvement program.

The Parent Problem

Urges Moralists To Stop Scolding Parents

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.,
Division of Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

It seems to be a favorite pastime of preachers, judges and many others who speak and write to parents to scold them forever. "You are responsible if your children go wrong," "The modern parent is the cause of crime," "Parents are not enough concerned about their children." Such are the broadsides fired against the average father and mother of today.

Granted for argument that the average parent is not sufficiently interested in the care and training of his children, and that a source of crime is the modern home. Those who hear such preaching are not the parents who need it. They are, instead, parents like yourself, who earnestly are trying to do about the best they can, and who are willing to make almost any kind of sacrifices for the welfare of their children.

To tell you that you are responsible if your children do not turn out well does not help you, even if such a statement is true. It merely tends to worry you and, indeed, may make you grow to be a less efficient parent.

What you want is to be shown just how you can improve.

Even if we concede that we parents are responsible for the conduct of our children, for their habits and ideals, the word responsible carries a bad moral accusation. It suggests that we do not care. It is not just a matter of caring, and of being conscientious. A lot of us care too much, we are too conscientious, we condemn ourselves too freely.

Moreover, we are morally responsible only insofar as we have light. So long as we have done the best we can, no matter how our children may turn out, why should we be blamed? Only in terms of our motives and our opportunities can we be fairly judged.

None of us knows very much about how to be good parents, and we have had but few opportunities to find out. We are just human beings. Almost before we realized the fact we became parents.

Let the preacher and the moralist cease his wild diatribes upon the parent. Let him proceed to rear an ideal family himself and show us in very concrete ways how to do likewise. Let him call to his assistance sympathetic experts to help him show parents what to do and what not to do, moment by moment, hour by hour, day by day. Until he is ready to do so let him cease to scold parents, although he gets a lot of pleasure by his chastisements.

He, of course, has many difficulties himself in being a good parent, since his task is frequently made harder just because so much is expected of him. But if he will be charitable and will frankly analyze with parents the kind of problems he must meet as well as they, in the care and training of children, not taking a "holier than thou" attitude, he will really get somewhere.

Anyway, we parents, like our children, resent being scolded always. What we want is sympathetic guidance.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

There are a few people in New Castle whose memory will enable them to remember the first time when, like today, it was unlawful to sell liquor in this city and county.

There were those persons in those days, who broke the laws when it came to the sale and use of liquor, as they do today. Perhaps they were not so numerous as now, but there were not near so many people in the city and county then as now.

This was in 1872-1874, when by reason of local option the city and county were declared dry territory by vote of the people.

In those days the word speakeasy had not been invented, at least the illicit selling places were not known by that name. They were designated by the term of blind pigs.

According to an old timer, there were three such blind pigs of outstanding prominence in the city. They were located right down town. So then, as now, the authorities were kept busy endeavoring to enforce the laws, which prohibited the sale of liquor.

Its length was 1,608 feet, and its area 21 acres. Every department of art and science was represented and it was viewed by more than 6,000,000 persons. Its materials were removed in 1854 and the structure rebuilt at Sydenham, eight miles from London. There the park and grounds cover nearly 200 acres and a permanent fair is held. In 1853 a similar but smaller "crystal palace" was erected between Fortieth and Forty-second streets on Sixth avenue, New York City. It was used for exhibitions and grand concerts, but was destroyed by fire in 1858.

In 1791, following the boom in business, after the close of the Revolutionary War, and because of over-speculation in the securities of the new government and in the stock of the newly organized banks the first small panic of the United States occurred. The first great financial crisis was precipitated by the War of 1812 and after the capture of the capital by the British on August 24, 1814.

How many stones are in the Washington monument?

The number of stones in the Washington monument has been estimated at 23,000.

In a recent issue of the Question Box, Virginia was given as the state from which the greatest number of presidents has come. This holds true, but the Question Box omitted the name of Woodrow Wilson from the list. He was born at Staunton, Va. This gives Virginia eight presidents. Ohio is next in line having given seven presidents to the nation.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Fire Patrol Days
Recalled By Gorley

The picture on the wall is what caused the subject to be brought up. It contained a series of photographs of the teams of horses belonging to the various New Castle engine companies 27 years ago.

C. D. Gorley, a member of the seventh ward fire department, remembers the day the pictures were taken and he spoke of the intelligence of the two bay horses pictured, who served so long and faithfully for Engine Co. 7.

"Did the boys understand the meaning of a fire alarm? They sure did! They were stomping impatiently in their stalls before the first sound of the alarm had died away."

Those were days when fire fighting, and especially the ride to and from the fire, furnished plenty of excitement. The horses were excited and it seemed contagious. Crowds ran following the shooting team, and shouted and whooped breathlessly. Today the sirens trucks set no more than a slight raise of the right eye brow.

"At eight o'clock each evening an alarm would come in from the central for the purpose of giving the teams a workout. The boys always knew when the alarm would ring. For several minutes before eight o'clock they had their cars coked in anticipation, and were ready to go at the sound of the alarm," according to Mr. Gorley. Sometimes several workouts would be given the horses.

Alarm in the middle of night, automatic opening of doors, stomping horses, dropping harness, scrambling firemen—and in a few seconds they were off into the night, bell clanging warning on to the fire. It is a memory recalled by that picture on the wall.

Walks Interest
Rustino Brothers

Walking is the sport in which William and Frank Rustino of Mr. Jackson are the most interested, according to their father, Joe Rustino, who works in a Madison avenue concern. The boys are 10 and 11 years of age respectively, but they set out every Sunday morning for a real man sized journey!

Fifteen or twenty miles are sometimes covered by these lads on a Sunday when the weather permits. They go no where in particular, just follow trails, roads and streams. They like it and look forward to their hikes with great enthusiasm.

Light Match To Investigate, Car Takes Fire, Farmer Is Aroused

(International News Service)
MIDDLETOWN, Pa., Feb. 25.—The old, old experiment of the gasoline tank and the lighted match today had produced a new reaction for George Heaney and David Schweiger, both 19, both students at Franklin and Marshall college, at Lancaster.

The youths were en route back to Lancaster from Harrisburg when their automobile gave a racking cough and stopped, about two miles east of here.

Investigating, they found they were out of gas. Nearby stood a barn, in the barn an auto. Schweiger and Heaney pushed their car to the barn, took up a length of rubber hose, inserted the end in the gas tank of their car, the other end in the other gas tank, repeating the siphon experiment they had studied. Gas flowed a while, then stopped. One of the pair lit a match to investigate.

A moment later the car was ablaze. Elmer Good owner of the barn came a-running, found the youths attempting to keep the flames from spreading. Good summoned state police, who arrested Schweiger and Heaney. They were held in bail of $300 for court.

By Train

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 25.—The path along which six-year old Frances Miroslavich hurried home to show her mother her report card was today transformed into a trial of death.

Little Frances received her monthly report card from the first grade in All Saints Parochial School, West Etna, yesterday and eagerly began a hurried run home to display her marks to her mother, but in her haste she chose a forbidden way, a path that led across the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at Kittanning and Butler streets.

As the girl, the youngest of three children, ran across the rails, report card in hand, she was struck by a freight train. The injuries caused her death less than an hour after she had been taken to the hospital.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miroslavich.

Capone To Enter Court To Answer Contempt Citation Today

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—A squad of picked policemen was assigned to Federal Judge James Wilkerson's courtroom today to forestall any attempts to assassinate Alphonse "Scarface" Capone when the gang chieftain appears to answer a contempt citation.

Attorneys for Capone assured federal prosecutors that their client will be in court at 10 o'clock this morning. This will be Capone's first official public appearance since he visited police headquarters, the district attorney's office and the United States district attorney shortly after his release last year from a Philadelphia prison.

Capone returned from his estate in Florida last Sunday and has remained in seclusion in or about the city since his arrival. The gang chieftain's attorneys have insisted that they did not know of his whereabouts.

Twelve Kiwanians
Go To Coraopolis

Take Active Part In Sectional Rally Last Night; Hear District Chief

"Kiwanis clubs function to promote a very certain and most definite purpose," District Governor Charles Donley of Kiwanis International, of Pittsburgh, told nearly 150 members from nine of the 13 mid-western Pennsylvania clubs when he addressed them at Coraopolis last night.

Three auto loads carrying 12 from New Castle shared in the division round-up, featured by a dinner, speaking program and inter-club bowling match.

Clubs represented included South Hills, Ellwood City, Aliquippa, Sewickley, Rochester, Beaver Falls, Ambler, Pittsburgh and the New Castle organization.

Governor Donley, whose district covers the entire state was honored guest. With him at the speaker's table were Dr. H. E. Helling, Ellwood City, the lieutenant governor for the mid-west area, and William Burress, president of the Pittsburgh club and district secretary. Officials of the Coraopolis club were in charge.

The district governor's message, stimulating and enlightening in every way, brought the Kiwanians a true word picture of the district's work. Other district chiefs spoke.

New Castle's bowlers, vanquishing all opposition until they reached the semi-final round, were finally repelled by Coraopolis by a 769 to 743 count. Composing the team were C. M. England, J. E. Deegan, Thomas Blake, William Hanna and James M. Mayberry.

Others of the club in attendance were President Clement D. Parker, Secretary L. C. Mantz, R. M. Campbell, H. E. Miller, H. L. Marvin and A. H. Gonick.

Four Saved From Death As Cream Contains Poison

Weston, West Virginia, Police Probe Poisoning As Murder Plot

(International News Service)
WESTON, W. Va., Feb. 25.—Spurred by the possibility of a wholesale murder plot which resulted in the poisoning of four persons police today were seeking the person who placed poison in a bottle of cream here Sunday night.

Three women and a man were made ill by drinking coffee into which the cream was poured. They are Mrs. Cecil Koons and her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McLaughlin and Mrs. Joseph Hager.

Those poisoned were snatched from death through the hasty summoning of a physician who administered antidotes.

The poison was placed in the cream after it had been delivered to a refrigerator in the hallway of an apartment house where Mrs. Koons lives, police said. Enough poison had been placed in the cream bottle to kill 50 persons.

No motive for the attempted murders has been found.

North Street School Kills Bee Colony

Nature Study Room In Local School Full Of Interesting Specimens

Did you ever walk into a class room at school and find the teacher fondly handling a large black snake? Well, this was what one of The News reporters saw Tuesday afternoon as he entered the Nature Study class room in the North street school.

This six foot black snake is the latest addition to the specimens in the nature study room and was loaned to the school by the Slippery Rock State Normal school for the students to study his habits. The State Teachers college recently sent a raccoon and an opossum to the school for the students.

A loss has been felt by the school inasmuch as they had to destroy the colony of bees they have had for the past two years, but recently upon a visit of state inspector Anderson from State College, it was found the bees were suffering from "foul brood" a bee disease that is prevalent in this section. The disease would not harm the quality of honey made by the bees but they spread the disease to other colonies, so cyanide of potassium was used to kill them. Prof. W. A. Hofmaster principal of the school said they would get a new colony to start this summer. The school had gathered 8 pounds of honey from their hive last year.

Student Teachers Assist
Miss Elnora Nissler and Miss Lavina Stewart, two outstanding nature study teachers of the Slippery Rock State Teachers college are now doing their practice teaching in nature study in the North street school and the children of the school are intensely interested in this class and bring live or dead specimens of all kinds of bugs, small animals and plants to the school. Miss Spencer, regular teacher of the North street school, is considered one of the foremost teachers in this branch of work in Western Pennsylvania and the Slippery Rock State Teachers College feel they are fortunate in having their student teachers under her. In addition to her skill in teaching, Miss Spencer is a taxidermist of no mean ability and nearly all specimens in the room were mounted by her, assisted by the students and student teachers.

Around the room are placed ovals of different varieties, squirrels, groundhog, possum, mole, birds of all kinds, fish, turtles, blue herons, snake skins, posters, blue prints of vegetable plants and leaves, a map of the heavens showing the position of the stars, Indian clubs and a variety of articles brought by the students, too numerous to mention.

Early in March, before the student teachers finish their course here, an exhibit of what the nature class is doing will be made for the public and at this time there will be a program of entertainment provided and the parents of the children, as well as friends will be invited to see the splendid work being done by this division of the school in studying "Mother Nature's Children."

Detectives Probe Slaying Of Man

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 25.—Homicide detectives investigating the murder of Silvio Lucarelli, 43, of Brownsville road, Carrick, whose body was found yesterday in the dining room adjoining his fruit store, were without any clues today that would dispel the mystery surrounding the circumstances of the crime.

Lucarelli, who worked night turns in a copper mill, left the shop earlier than usual because of illness. Five hours later his body was found. A bullet through the heart, near an open safe from which $300 was said to have been stolen. Whether or not Lucarelli returned directly home after leaving work was still unknown today.

Police were considering the theory that Lucarelli was shot while struggling with a thief who forced him to open the safe.

A DOCTOR'S Advice for Stubborn BOWELS

"DRINK at least six glasses of water daily — preferably before meals. Eat bulkier foods, such as vegetables, fruits and coarse breads. Use a mild laxative as needed."

That is Dr. Caldwell's advice to people with stubborn bowels. He specializes on the bowels; treated thousands for constipation and its ills. The prescription he used over and over has become the world's most popular laxative! "Syrup Pepsin," as it is now called, was tested by over 47 years of practice.

Today you can get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drugstore in America. It is always the same; made exactly according to the original prescription, from laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other valuable ingredients. Nothing in it to harm even a baby. It does not gripe, sicken or cause any discomfort. But it moves the bowels; it gets rid of all the souring waste which clogs the system and makes you headachy, gassy, bloated, weak, bilious. A doctor should know just what is best for the bowels. Syrup Pepsin is a famous doctor's choice of a safe, pleasant, effective laxative for men, women, older folks, and children.

Boxing Matches Top Off Rousing Legion Meeting

Report On Progress Of National Commander's Banquet Given By Chairman

SHARON VISITORS ARE IN ATTENDANCE

Last evening's meeting of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, was rounded out by six fast boxing bouts of three rounds each, which brought together some clever amateur fighters from the vicinity.

The matches were staged in the armory and were attended by a large crowd of Legionnaires and friends, and plenty of action was provided. In addition there was a tasty feed provided by the entertainment committee.

Chairman Harry Long of the national commander's banquet rendered a report on the plans for the banquet, which will be held on March 11, stating that plans for the coming event were now practically complete.

Indications point to a record attendance at the affair, particularly from the surrounding district. Chairman Glenn Berry of the ticket committee stating that many of the posts in the district have increased the number of reservations over previous years, in some instances the number being doubled.

Complete details of the program will be worked out during the next few days, when they will be announced by the committee.

New Castle will be the only place in Pennsylvania which will honor National Commander O'Neill this year, many of his speaking engagements during February and March having been cancelled because of illness, and the local Legionnaires plan to make the occasion one which the national commander will remember.

Several members of the Sharon Post of the American Legion were in attendance at the meeting last evening, along with District Commander Mike Kane of Alliquippa.

Diathermy Produced In Two Forms

Clendenen Explains Heat Treatments In Illness

By LOGAN CLENDENEN M. D.

Diathermy can be modified so that two forms are produced—medical and surgical diathermy. Its action is due, as we saw yesterday, to the production of heat caused by the passage of a high frequency electric current between two electrodes. The electrodes may be placed at varying distances apart on the surface of the body. As the current passes from one to the other heat is produced in the tissues which the current traverses.

If the temperature produced is insufficient to damage the tissues, but simply heat them up, it is called medical diathermy. If, however, it is high enough to destroy tissue, it is called surgical diathermy, or electro-coagulation.

Medical diathermy the production of heat in tissues has been tried for curative purposes in a number of conditions in two with conspicuous success. Certain forms of infectious arthritis and pelvic infections in women results to this treatment.

There is no form of heat comparable to diathermy in joint infections which are fairly acute to fairly chronic in character, provided there is no encapsulated pus present in the joint. The old forms of external heat do not have the penetrating quality of diathermy and cannot "place" the heat exact in the diseased tissues as it can. Besides, it has considerable effect in destroying the germs which cause the arthritis and thus preventing future flare-ups.

Even the most conservative specialists in diseases of women are enthusiastic in their praise of the use of diathermy in the pelvic infections of women. Many such cases cannot be operated in the acute stage. Diathermy used at this time relieves pain, for one thing and often clears the inflammation up so thoroughly that, as one gynecologist says, operation is unnecessary.

Diathermy has been tried in pneumonia and good reports made about it. It seems to do no harm. Whether the results are better than in other methods of treatment I cannot convince myself. The reports available are lacking in comparative statistics.

It has also been used in tuberculosis of the lungs, but here also the results are not sufficiently definite to allow of unreserved recommendation.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

M. L. D. asks a number of questions, among them: "What diet would you suggest for a nursing mother to increase the amount of milk?"

Answer: There is no single article of diet or drug which will increase the amount of milk. A full diet eating plenty of all kinds of food, is the only thing known. Milk is the most valuable single article of diet for a nursing mother: egg yolk, oranges, green vegetables, cream cheese, butter (at least on ounce a day) and tomatoes are all essential articles of the mother's diet.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Five pamphlets and four articles by Dr. Clendenen can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendenen, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, East Twelfth St., Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes" and "Feminine Hygiene." The articles are "Normal Diet," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Tuberculosis," and "The Abdominal Wall."

$200.00 Paid for One Copper Cent

J. D. Martin of Richmond, Va., is the proud possessor of a check for $200.00 paid him for an old copper cent. The Numismatic Company, Dept. 880, Fort Worth, Texas, who purchased this penny from Mr. Martin, says there are numerous old coins, bills and stamps in circulation for which they will gladly pay big cash premiums. So that you will know the value of old coins and stamps and what to watch for in your change, the Numismatic Company will send for only 4c to any reader of this paper who writes them, a large illustrated coin folder describing some of these wanted articles and the big profits to be made. Better write them today for this large folder so you can post yourself and know just what to look for. Remember that Mr. Martin's knowing the value of his penny meant a difference of $199.99 to him. Without knowing its value that penny might still be in circulation, passing through the hands of thousands until someone like Mr. Martin, who knows its value, recognized it. It pays to be informed. Send 4c now for the illustrated coin folder. You have nothing to lose, everything to gain.

Extra Periods Decide Games

Shelby League Games Are Exceptionally Close Last Night

OFFICE-HOT MILL TEAMS WINNERS

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 25.—In two of the most exciting games ever seen in the Shelby league last night the Office nosed out the Mechanicals in a hot contest 30-29 and the Hot Mills repeating its first round fete by defeating the Specialty for the second time for the new half by a score of 33-31. Both contests required an extra period to decide the issue and neither was decided until the dying moments of the extra period.

The Mechanicals fresh from an impressive victory over the champion Specialty last Saturday looked like the winners last night also. The score was in their favor 22-15 at the end of the third quarter and they appeared capable of continuing their fine showing for the remainder of the contest. The Office was forced to leave the affair way for 4 personal fouls. The deadlock was made early in the period and both teams were making numerous shots in order to win, but all to no avail. The extra period was a genuine thriller. First one team would be in front, then it was the other. This Fredhoff held the lead by 3 points and they were playing for time. Then in the few remaining seconds Leyda had tipped the ball in from the bank board for a two pointer and then on the next play from center he acquires the lead by a dribble to the side.

Johnston and Hartman were also very impressive for the winners and Ferucci, Kimes, and Stasick for the losers.

The second game was marked with the usual old rivalry between the Hot Mills and the champions Specialty. It was a hard fought game throughout. The Specialty drew first blood when Patterson registers from the court after a period of close guarding. Fredhoff sinks two fouls and on the next play a basket which puts the Hot Mills ahead 4-2 but Latiano ties matters up with a double decker also. Chambers gets the final say at the close of the period by scoring from under the basket and placing the Hot Mills in front by a 6-4 score.

Upon resuming rivalries in the next quarter the Hot Mills take a prominent position as they begin to score in rapid succession and besting their opponents 12-9 at the close of the period. The score at half-way being 18-13 in their favor.

Fredhoff held the limelight in this period as he scored from very unusual positions while being constantly pressed.

In the ensuing period the Specialty had made a vain attempt to advance to the front and just lacked two points, the score being 22-20. But they had outscored their rivals 7-4 which they again did in the fourth quarter at 5-4 and deadlocked the game at 26 all. Gardner had sunk a foul for the Specialty and then again comes to the fore with a pair of double deckers, which had given the Specialty a 4 point lead. But just before the period closes Chambers also accredits himself with a pair and thus necessitating an extra period for the issue at stake.

The extra period was indeed a hair raiser. Gardner registers for the champions and Chambers repeats for the Hot Mills. Then Patterson and Fitzgerald accredit their respective teams with a foul and still the game is deadlocked. With very little time left to play Fredhoff pulls off a shot that will long be remembered by the fans. Being way in enemy territory—almost on the foul line of their basket he sinks a perfect shot—without touching the hoops. The crowd was in an uproar and up on their feet. Clyde then accredits a foul on the next play for the Hot Mills and Boone scores from under the basket making the score 32-31 for the Hot Mills. Fredhoff was fouled on the next play as the whistle ended the game. He was permitted to shoot the foul which he counted up making the score 33-31.

Chambers, Fredhoff and Clyde were the deciding factors in the Hot Mills' victory, while Patterson, Boone, and Gardner were impressive for the losers.

The fine crowd was well pleased with the titanic struggles last night.

15. Benedict Arnold—Destruction Of Arnold's Fleet

ON THE NIGHT OF OCTOBER 11, 1776, WHILE THE BRITISH FLEET LAY AT ANCHOR OFF VALCOUR ISLAND, WAITING TO CLOSE IN AT DAYBREAK AND COMPLETE THE DESTRUCTION OF THE AMERICAN FLOTILLA, ARNOLD AUDACIOUSLY SLIPPED THROUGH THE BRITISH LINE WITH HIS BATTERED SHIPS AND RACED FOR TICONDEROGA.

DISCOVERING THAT ARNOLD HAD GIVEN THEM THE SLIP, THE BRITISH FLEET STARTED IN PURSUIT AND ON OCTOBER 13, OVERHAULED THE LITTLE AMERICAN SQUADRON AT CROWN POINT. IN THE UNEQUAL FIGHT THAT FOLLOWED, ARNOLD'S BACKWOODS TARS FOUGHT LIKE TIGERS.

(Copyright, 1930, by J. Carroll Mansfield)

FACING OVERWHELMING ODDS, THE AMERICANS RESISTED TO THE END, PLUCKILY STANDING BY THEIR GUNS UNTIL THE LAST OF THEIR RIPPED VESSELS WAS BEACHED IN FLAMES.

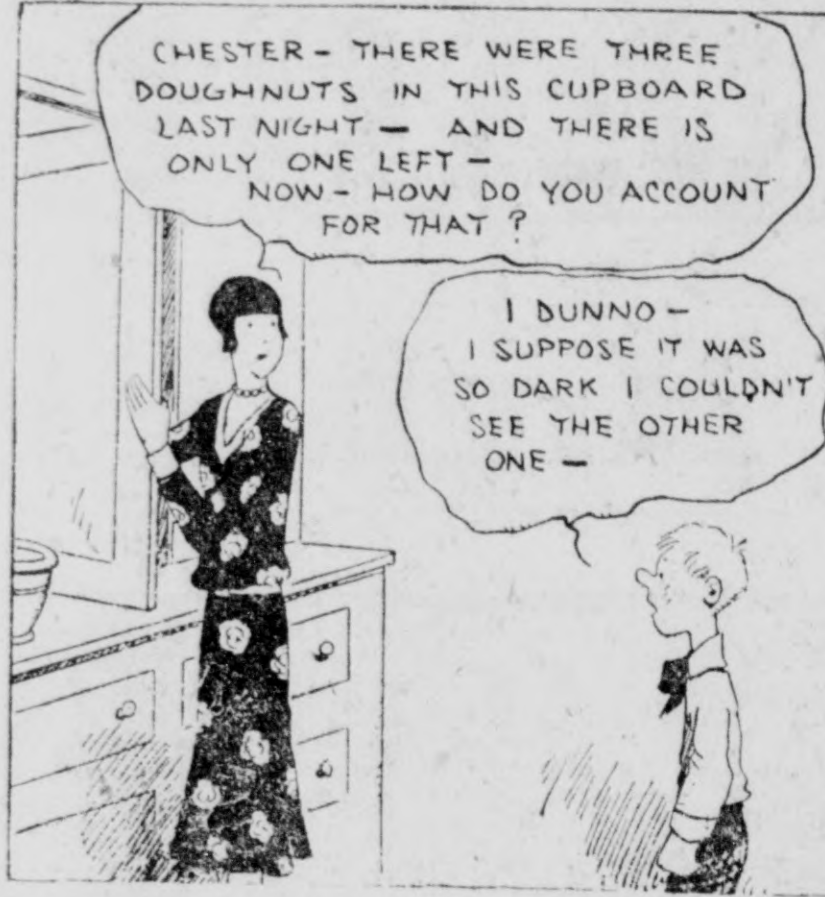

AGAIN ARNOLD, EVEN THOUGH DEFEATED, HAD ACCOMPLISHED HIS MISSION. HE HAD DELAYED THE BRITISH LONG ENOUGH FOR SCHUYLER TO STRENGTHEN HIS DEFENSES AT TICONDEROGA. FINDING SCHUYLER WELL-PREPARED TO RECEIVE THEM, THE BRITISH POSTPONED THEIR ATTACK UNTIL THE FOLLOWING YEAR.

New Castle-Ambridge High Play Tonight

FAST GAME PREDICTED IN W. P. I. A. L. TOURNEY OPENER ON PITT FLOOR

New Castle Enters Game As
"Under Dog"—Locals
End Practice Tuesday

Big Delegation Of Fans Expected To Board 4:45
O'Clock Special

Having captured the Section Three title by coming through undefeated, New Castle high basketball team will start its fight for the W. P. I. A. L. cup tonight at Pitt Stadium, Pittsburgh, when Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will present his combination against Moe Rubenstein's Ambridge high, Section Two champs, in the opening game of the first round of the W. P. I. A. L. tournament. The starting whistle will be sounded at 8:00 o'clock sharp.

A situation which has never arisen this season will make its debut tonight. New Castle in its 17 straight victories has been favored in every one of these contests. Tonight it will be different with Ambridge high taking the floor as the favorites to cop the first round tilt from the Lawrence Counties.

Ambridge Hopeful
In order to win the Tin City boys must play "honest to goodness" basketball. The Ambridge team according to reports has the best team in the history of the school. To date the valley quintet has captured 18 out of 19 contests. Their only defeat came at the hands of Allegheny in the first game of the season.

Ever since that first defeat there hasn't been a team down the valley district able to conquer the Rubenstein machine. Can New Castle stop the onward march of Ambridge? A matter of time will decide this question. Ambridge went through its final drill on Tuesday afternoon in preparation for this game. Following the practice Coach Rubenstein proclaimed his boys in excellent shape and stated that he feels confident that his team will play the winner of the Monessen-Bentleyville game early in March.

Dope also states that the townspeople of Ambridge are going wild about this game and will be represented 100 per cent at the Pitt floor to watch their championship hopes in action. Ambridge will be out there tonight to even up for a defeat which the New Castle team handed the valley boys last season 32-14.

Locals Conclude Training
Like Ambridge, New Castle wrote fits to the practice schedule on Tuesday afternoon at George Washington Junior high floor with a long workout. Phil Bridenbaugh following the practice did not know what to say concerning the contest tonight.

New York Giants Having Trouble With Hold-Outs

Hubbell, Terry, Hogan, Critz
And Lindstrom Are Not Satisfied

MUST BE IN FOLD
BY NEXT MONDAY

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Unless the holdout situation in the ranks of the New York Giants is ironed out in the near future, the club is likely to get off to a poor start in the National League pennant race. Although official verification or denial is lacking, it seems that at least two battery men are holdouts—Carl Hubbell, southpaw pitching ace, and Frank Hogan, gargantuan catcher. They failed to report with the other battery men at San Antonio on Monday. Hogan returned to his home at Somerville, Mass., making no bones about his dissatisfaction over the terms offered him.

Many Are Balking
Bill Terry, of course, is an avowed recalcitrant, and Lindstrom and Critz also are said to have balked at the club's offer. It is understood that Terry and others have reached a private agreement not to sign unless all get what they want.

Matters are so serious that Manager John McGraw was due at the training camp today five days ahead of schedule to take stock of the situation. McGraw declared some time ago that tardy players would be fined one day's pay for every day they were late in reporting. At this rate Hogan, Hubbell et al. are losing money almost as fast as the stock market bears.

The infielders and outfielders in the holdout group will lose neither pay nor training time if they are in the fold by next Monday. McGraw is determined to win the pennant this year and will waste little time wrangling with the hired help over salary squabbles. Those players who have not come to terms by next week are likely to find themselves traded to another club in one of McGraw's typically sensational deals.

K. O. CHRISTNER DEFEATS ROCCO

Christner And Rocco Battle Before Big Throng At Akron

AKRON, O., Feb. 25.—Knockout Christner defeated Emmett Rocco in 10 rounds at the Armory here last night. Christner took six rounds and Rocco captured two. The other two chapters were even. Christner had Emmett in a bad way in the seventh round.

Christner took the first five rounds. He fought aggressively while Emmett backed around the ring hoping for a chance to counter. In the sixth Rocco went after Christner and in close range slugged viciously to the stomach and got an even break.

Christner swarmed over Rocco in the seventh and gave him a lacing and it looked as though Rocco might be put away. However, he took everything Christner had and while he was in distress when he went to his corner came out refreshed for the eighth.

Rocco crowded Christner and whaled him around the body and had Christner retreating but Christner's counters to the head got him an even break.

Rocco battered Christner's mid-section in the ninth and fought him to the ropes and took the round by a big margin. Christner tired perceptibly. They slammed each other to head and body in the tenth and the round was even.

The Armory was crowded and the doors were closed before the first preliminary was staged.

Walker-Risiko To Battle Tonight

Bout Scheduled For Last Night
Called Off Due To Rain

(International News Service)

MIAMI, Feb. 25.—After an unexpected day of rest, Mickey Walker and Johnny Risiko today awaited the going for their battle tonight in Madison Square Garden stadium. Rain caused Promoter "Pa" Stripling to postpone the fight last evening until tonight.

Stripling said that the extra day would probably add to the attendance and he hoped for a gate in excess of $50,000.

The middleweight champion will be considerably overweighed by Risiko. The Cleveland boxer weighed in yesterday at 194 pounds, while Walker scaled only 165½.

Young Stripling, Georgia heavyweight, and Max Schmeling, champion, will box in exhibition bouts.

SAN ANTONIO—Except for four stars, the Giants pitching staff was complete today. The absentees are Freddie Fitzsimmons, Herb Pruett, Bill Walker and Joe Genewich and McCarty today after yesterday's enforced rest, due to rain.

CLEARWATER—Babe Herman, the big stick man, is due to join the Brooklyn Robins in camp tomorrow. Hootie Thurston was also expected, leaving Quinn and Luque the only hurlers not accounted for. Rain prevented activities yesterday.

PASO ROBLES, Cal.—Fly chasing and infield practice were the order of the day for the Pirates today. Pitcher Steve Swetonic, with a sore arm, is the first casualty.

PORT MYERS—Connie Mack, manager of the world champion Athletics, is expected here today. Twenty four players have reported for the opening of spring training. Eddie Rommel and George Earnshaw, two of the A's veteran hurlers, are expected in camp today.

PHILADELPHIA—The first southward bound squad of the Phillies is enroute for Florida today. An even dozen of the players left here yesterday and expect to reach Winter Haven tonight.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Despite spite the news that Morris (Moe) Berg is definitely a holdout the Chicago White Sox will present one of the most capable catching departments in the American League this season, it was evident today as the Sox held their third workout. Bennie Tate, Walter Henline, Frank Grube and Victor Siegel comprise the list of backstops.

AVAILON, Cal.—With the arrival of twelve veterans workouts in the Chicago Club training camp began in earnest today. The pitchers and catchers have been training here for more than a week.

Gersons To Play In Jewish League

Flushed by their decisive victory over the Central Christians on Monday night, (mis-print in Tuesday's paper saying Temples were beaten), the Gerson Jewlers will go to Youngstown, Ohio, tonight for a game in the Jewish League. The league leading B. M. D. team will be the opponents. This is the start of the second-half of the league.

The B. M. D. team must defeat the Gersons tonight to stay up in front of the league. Last year the Gersons beat the B. M. D. team to win the second-half title, and are out to repeat this year. Earlier in the season the B. M. D. team hung a 26 to 20 defeat on the locals. The trip to Youngstown will be made by machines leaving the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock sharp. As this is the feature game of the program it will not start until 9:30 o'clock. Dancing will follow the game. It is expected that quite a big crowd of local followers will go to Youngstown to watch the Gersons in action.

Coach Ray Nolte has been trying to instill a fighting spirit in the team and seems to be successful, with Dave Rogovin, "Sac" Levin, and Joe Solomon looking better every game, and have been getting the tip-off an also getting the ball off the bank-board many many times lately.

KEEPING IT HOT

Stove League Gossip

One of the quickest climbs a ball player ever made into the big money has been experienced by Frank Crosetti, brilliant San Francisco shortstop.

Three years ago Frank was a corner lot star who attracted the attention of the Seal management.

The other day the Seals offered Frank a contract calling for $250 a week during the playing season. That totals up to $6,000, quite a salary for a 20 year old.

Frank is now the highest salaried player the Coast league has ever had.

Though Frank will serve with the Seals this season he has been purchased by the New York Yankees for $65,000 and a bunch of ball players. The Yanks believe they have made a bargain.

ST. MARY'S GIRLS DEFEAT CHRISTIANS

The St. Mary's basketball team dropped a tough game to the Chamber's team of Youngstown last night 33 to 32 on the St. Mary's floor. The game was nip and tuck in every period, and was one of the best played games of the year at the local auditorium. The St. Mary's girls defeated the First Christian maidens 13 to 11 in the preliminary game. At the end of the first quarter of the boys game the Ohioans led 9 to 8. The Saints had a tough battle at Beaver Falls on Monday night and plainly showed it. The first half ended 17-17 with the locals looking a little better, but still unable to take the lead. Morgan and Resch were the big scorers for the Youngstown team, this pair shooting them from all angles. Father Nee used a good many subs in the final two periods. At the end of the third quarter the score was 24 to 21, in favor of the visitors. The final period was hard fought with the locals outscoring the invaders 12 to 9, but fell one-point short of deadlocking the game. For the Saints the work of Russ Hannon, Uhle and Kulich was the best.

In the girls' game the St. Mary's team had a battle to defeat the First Christian girls. Miss Dagnon was the star of the game with three field goals, while Patton and Kennedy also played well. The work of Whalen at side-center for the Saints was fine.

Thursday night the St. Mary's varsity and girls teams will go to Annadale for a return game.

He took her to a physician, where it was found that she had escaped injury.

Mrs. Winifred Bell, 1510 East Washington street, reported that she was going west on East Washington street at Allen street, when she went to pass to the left of a car bearing Ohio license T 48-771 which was in front of her and as she did so, the other machine made a left hand turn into Allen street. The machines came together and some damage was done.

Work Feverishly In Well Capping

Estimate $100,000 Loss
Daily As Gas Gusher
Remains Uncapped

EXPERTS ARRIVE FROM OKLAHOMA

(International News Service)
WELLSBORO, Pa., Feb. 25.—Working in fifteen minute shifts experts who were rushed here from Oklahoma oil fields today expected to "cap" the unleashed Meeker Natural Gas well, which has been flowing at 80,000,000 cubic feet a day since it blew in unexpectedly last Friday.

Roads leading to the well were guarded by state trooper and employees of the Development Company; telephone lines were hastily strung to the shaft and shacks were stationed to give first aid to any workers overcome by the rushing fumes.

The Halliburton process is expected to be utilized successfully in taming the gas gusher. Under this method, a casing of concrete between two metal sheaths will be forced into the well, providing a staunch confining space for the gas which makes capping possible.

The Oklahoma workers joined a crew of four experts sent here from Wooster, O., where the development firm has other wells. More than a score of workers were at the shaft today.

Engineers estimated that the whistle of escaping gas has already announced a loss of $500,000 to the owners of the well, $100,000 in gas being wasted daily.

The well, according to gas experts is the largest ever brought in east of the Mississippi.

"The Word 'SPIT' ...Conveys the Meaning"

Says

DR. G. E. MURPHY

Health Officer, Olympia, Washington

...one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. Murphy's letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Murphy writes: "The... campaign against 'spit-tipping' in the manufacture of cigars should receive the endorsement of all interested in the Public health."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it...Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Gentlemen;

The commendable campaign against "spit-tipping" in the manufacture of cigars should receive the endorsement of all interested in the Public health.

The word "spit" is forceful, easily understood, and conveys the meaning intended.

Permission is given The American Cigar Company to make use of this letter.

Yours very truly

Lawrence County On Both Probing Bodies

(From News Bureau)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 25.—When the record of the present session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly is filed away for the ages, it will probably stand out more for being a session of investigation than one of legislation.

When Governor Gifford Pinchot declared for an investigation of the Public Utilities and the Public Service Commission he started something which will undoubtedly prolong the length of the session until warm weather. After a legislative civil war, the Senate came out with an investigation committee composed entirely of senators.

The House came back with a bill to provide for an investigation of its own, with this exception that whereas the Senate investigation is more or less limited in its scope, the House investigation, by the resolution authorizing it is permitted to investigate almost anything it takes a mind to, as long as it concerns the utilities or the commission.

Only two counties in the state have the distinction of having both members of the House and Senate on the investigating committees and Lawrence County is one of these two, the other being Delaware.

The House committee is headed by Representative D. Glenn Moore of Washington County; the other members being named as follows: Bart Richards, Lawrence; Louis Hagmaier, Allegheny; Martin Memolo, Lackawanna; F. L. Bowers, Fayette; Ellwood Turner, Delaware; and Chester Rhodes, Monroe. Senator George T. Weingartner of Lawrence County is on the Senate investigating committee so that no matter which committee turns up evidence of any importance Lawrence County will have had a hand in it.

The Senate Committee has already held a number of sessions, and has had such distinguished witnesses as General W. W. Atterbury, Mayor Harry A. Mackey of Philadelphia, Public Service Commissioner James Benn and others.

The House Committee will not organize until next week and to the members named, the governor will add three as observers, these three to sit in at the hearings and aid in the investigation.

An investigation as sweeping as the House Committee plans will take time after which the findings must be prepared and presented to the House. Then comes legislation which must be drafted, presented sent to committee and voted upon. All of which will take some little time.

Don't neglect your child's COUGH or COLD

TRY this milder "counter-irritant." Good old Musterole, made milder for babies and small children. So pleasant to use and so reliable—apply Children's Musterole freely to the affected area once every hour for five hours. That's the safe, sure treatment that millions of mothers and leading doctors and nurses recognize and endorse.
Musterole gets action because it is a "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain.
That's why this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally. Keep full strength Musterole on hand for adults and Children's Musterole for the little tots.
